A Message from Patti

Dear CWTC Friends,

At this time of year, we take time to reflect on the past. We have all faced some challenging times over the past 21 months. We have gained knowledge, lost loved ones, learned patience, and been pushed beyond our limits at times. One thing I think we have learned is that it is okay to lean on each other and we must count on friends, families and work families to get us through these most difficult times.

I would like to thank everyone for their continued support of CWTC and adults with disabilities. Whether you have supported us financially, by volunteering your time, provided moral support or assisted in any other way, we want you to know we appreciate you.

As we chart our course for 2022, we will continue to keep our mission at the forefront of our plans and we will ensure that improving the quality of life of our consumers is our priority.

Wishing you a holiday season filled with lots of peace, joy, and happiness.

My best to you for a happy and healthy 2022.

Patti
