A Message from Patti

Dear friends of CWTC,

Sometimes as we get caught up in the day-to-day operations, the deadlines we must meet, the regulations we must follow, the processes, policies and procedures, and we forget our mission. Our mission includes, enriching the quality of life, promoting social change and optimizing the potential for independence of adults with disabilities.

The reason CWTC has been in existence for 61 years is to provide valuable programs and services to our consumers.

Warmest wishes this holiday season,

Patti

Consumer Spotlight

Michael began working with CWTC's community employment program in the spring of this year. He worked in the main workshop for a short time on a contract with AMT. In August he began taking classes at Spoon River College and in September, began working at McDonald's. Michael loves his job, and his employer loves him. Kristi (manager) says, "I know Michael will get the job done and I don't have to worry about it. He always has a positive attitude!" Michael has done so well that they have increased his hours from three days a week to five days a week.
